CLUB LOG ONLINE SOFTWARE

Looking for a Software Package to keep track of you DXCC Contacts? I have tried several systems, none of which worked for me...not that my requirements are that strict...I just wanted something that was easy to use and showed what I needed. LOTW does the work and helps you get the credits for any awards you may be working towards. "BUT HERE IS WHAT IS NEAT." Club Log shows you which DXCC entities you have and what you still need with many ways to display this information. Another great feature is it will show what is active on the Cluster and, using filters, display only those spots that you need! There are several ways to get the countries you have worked into Club Log and to get started you can download all you LOTW contacts into a file in your computer and then upload them into Club Log. You will need to set up an account in Club Log to use it but it is password protected and can only be accessed by yourself. Try it and see if it fills your needs! de Ken W9IE

ART K9XI STEPS UP TO CO-CHAIR KARSFESTHamFest Update--K9XI

The leadership of KARS-Fest has been joined. While Craig, N9FD, is still very much involved, I took it upon myself at the last KARS Board Meeting to introduce a few ideas of my own on how to make KARS-Fest better. Needless to say, I was drafted. I have no complaints, because that's how I planned it.

While there is not much time to implement all of the ideas that Craig and I came up with at our recent meeting, that doesn't mean we aren't going to try. Here are some:

Seminars: What's hot in Ham Radio? What's garnering the most interest? Who can give a presentation on such topics? We have the time in KARS-Fest for three such seminars, at 8 AM, 9 AM, and 12 Noon. We're going to 'scour the bushes' for seminar-worthy stuff. Can you help?

DX: I have a couple of friends in NIDXA. I'm going to contact one of them and see if we can get a booth set up for them, with the idea of getting the local DX crowd to bring in SASE's for the bureau to return them full of cards. NIDXA should also be able to enroll new members there.

More vendors: I'm asking those members of KARS who are attending Dayton to help up out in passing out invitations to all of the vendors the Hamvention®, both inside and at the flea market, to give KARS-Fest a for for their itinerary. For example, I have a favorite vendor who missed last year, and we're going to try to at least get them back. We have room for up to about 60 tables on the inside. The goal is to fill them up.

"Young people in Ham Radio" booth: KARS has a number of the 'pre-high-school-graduation' crowd in its ranks. Any interest in getting them to have a booth of their own? We should get them involved in getting others of their age group into the Wonderful World of Amateur Radio. Wouldn't you agree? The digital aspect, for one, is the perfect way to get them interested.

Early registration of KARS-Fest with the ARRL and CQ Magazine. That's going out this week but it can't be complete as we don't have all the things we want to do lined up yet. Hopefully, we can amend later.

Local publicity: I work for half the stations in Kankakee. I'm endeavoring to get as many of them as I can to take on the role of publicists for KARS-Fest. Shouldn't be hard. We could even publicize it in Will County, being the KARS-Fest is held there.

There---those are the ideas. Anyone in the club who believes that they can help with any aspect of KARS-Fest can reach me at either k9xi@reagan.com, or karsfest@gmail.com. Be sure to put "KARS-Fest Help" in the subject line, so I can get to it fastest. Tickets and vendor sign-ups can call 815-348-7752.

Art, K9XI

Many thanks to Art for stepping up the challenge of this important KARS event. We ask that all KARS members help out as best they can and give Art the support he needs...Don K9NR
